

ABSTRACT OF THE DISCLOSURE

An embodiment of the present invention is a task manager to manage tasks in a multiprocessor system. A task table stores task entries corresponding to tasks executed by at least one processor. A block allocation circuit allocates blocks of the cache memory used by the tasks. A task coordinator coordinates the tasks in response to a task cycle issued by a processor.